```
like \leq 0.245
entropy = 1.596
samples = 104
value = [0, 28, 54, 19, 3, 0]

entropy = 0.0
samples = 3
value = [0, 3, 0, 0, 0, 0]

value = [0, 1, 0, 0, 1, 0]

entropy = 0.0
samples = 2
value = [0, 0, 0, 2, 0, 0]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              throw \leq 0.207
entropy = 1.56
samples = 103
salue = [0, 28, 54, 19, 2, 0] entropy = 0.0
samples = 1
value = [0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 1, 0] entropy = 0.0
samples = 1
value = [0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 1, 0]
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          \begin{array}{c} \text{cathol} \leq 0.187 \\ \text{entropy} = 1.005 \\ \text{samples} = 56 \\ \text{value} = [0, 17, 38, 1, 0, 0] \\ \end{array}
                               | monter 4 0.16 | monter 5 0.16 | monter 5 0.16 | monter 6 0.15 | monter 6 0.16 | monter 6 0.1
```